The Honorable Board of Supervisors
County of Los Angeles
383 Kenneth Hahn Hall of Administration

Los Angeles, California 90012

Dear Supervisors:

APPROVAL OF STANDARD AGREEMENT No. 10-0057 WITH THE CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF FOOD AND AGRICULTURE
TO PROVIDE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE ALLIGATORWEED ERADICATION PROJECT
ALL DISTRICTS (3 VOTES)

SUBJECT

Request approval for the Agricultural Commissioner/Director of Weights and Measures (ACWM) to execute an Agreement with California Department of Food and Agriculture (CDFA) for the Alligatorweed Eradication Project.

IT IS RECOMMENDED THAT YOUR BOARD:

1. Approve and instruct the Agricultural Commissioner/Director of Weights and Measures to execute Standard Agreement No.10-0057 (Exhibit 1) with CDFA authorizing the Department of Agricultural Commissioner/Weights and Measures (ACWM) to provide overall responsibility for the Alligatorweed Eradication Project in the County of Los Angeles. ACWM will have direct supervision of field activities and provide field staff and supplies.
2. Authorize the Commissioner/Director to amend the contract agreement in an amount not to exceed 15 percent of the original contract, at no net County cost, subject to review and approval by County Counsel and the Chief Executive Office and notification to the Board offices.

PURPOSE/JUSTIFICATION OF RECOMMENDED ACTION

Alligatorweed is a highly invasive aquatic plant, native to South America, which can grow rapidly and has the potential to impair the ability of flood waters to empty rapidly during a heavy water load, significantly increasing the risk of flooding. The surveying and removal of alligatorweed in Los Angeles County is critical to prevent further infestations of the San Gabriel and Los Angeles River Basins.

CDFA has requested that ACWM provide responsibility for the Alligatorweed Eradication Project in the County of Los Angeles. Approval of the recommended actions will enable ACWM to survey quarantined areas of the San Gabriel and Los Angeles River Basins and remove any new plants that are found, working toward the eradication of this highly invasive weed.

Implementation of Strategic Plan Goals

This action supports the County's Strategic Plan Goals of:

- Goal No. 1 (Operational Effectiveness): ACWM will quickly respond to any alligatorweed infestations in the County of Los Angeles, using highly trained ACWM staff to effectively and efficiently remove any new locations of the plant.
- Goal No. 3 (Community and Municipal Services): Eradicating alligatorweed infestations along waterways and bodies of water improves and protects the infrastructure of Los Angeles County.
- Goal No. 5 (Public Safety): Alligatorweed infestations can significantly increase the risk of floods by blocking drainage canals, riverbeds, and other flood control infrastructure.

FISCAL IMPACT/FINANCING

Adequate appropriation will be made available in Fiscal Year 2010/2011 and 2011/2012 to cover agreement costs. CDFA will reimburse ACWM $133,432 for providing responsibility for the Alligatorweed Eradication Project in the County of Los Angeles. This agreement is 100 percent revenue offset and there is no net County cost.

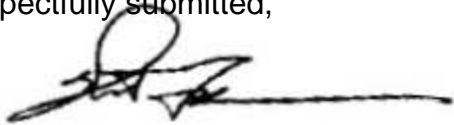

FACTS AND PROVISIONS/LEGAL REQUIREMENTS

It is within the scope of the mission of ACWM to help prevent the establishment and reduce the spread of harmful and invasive weed, insect and vertebrate pests. The terms of the agreement shall be for the period July 1, 2010, through June 30, 2012. The Agreement has been approved as to form by County Counsel.

IMPACT ON CURRENT SERVICES (OR PROJECTS)

ACWM has sufficient staff and equipment to perform the services. The recommended Board action will not impact the current levels of service.

Respectfully submitted,

WORK PLAN

Background

Alligatorweed, Alternanthera philoxeroides, is a native of South America, and is in the Amaranthaceae, the amaranth family. It is a noxious perennial emergent aquatic weed with the ability to survive in dry land habitats. Its profuse growth can impede boats, cause floods by blocking drainage canals and riverbeds, crowd out native vegetation and serve as a breeding ground for mosquitoes. This rapidly growing plant may infest riparian habitats, rivers or creeks, ponds or reservoirs, and irrigated cropland. Floating stems of the plant often form heavy mats and can completely restrict water flow. Once alligatorweed established itself in an aquatic or semiterrestrial site, the plant rapidly spreads. Due to this rapid spread, other surrounding vegetation will be subdued by alligatorweed. In a static or flowing water system, alligatorweed severely limits its use for recreational, domestic, industrial or agricultural purposes, in many cases making it almost impossible.

Although first described in California in 1946 by a botany professor at the University of Southern California, alligatorweed was not reported to the Los Angeles County Agricultural Commissioner's Office until 1956. The infestation at its peak in the 1960's and '70's was estimated at 115 to 125 net acres over a gross acreage of 7,000 acres. In 1997, this had been reduced to 0.05 net acres over 5,798 gross acres. Alligatorweed was first found in the United States in the late 1800's and has since spread throughout the southeastern United States.

On April 17, 2007 a large area of alligatorweed was located on U.S. Army Corps' property near San Jose Creek. This find was of major concern and since then, with the assistance of County staff, many more sites have been found. In the fall of 2008, an estimated quarter of an acre was located at the Rio Hondo River and the crossover channel on another area of U.S. Army Corps' property.

Only a small window of opportunity exists to contain or eradicate alligatorweed, because it is very difficult to kill completely. Various herbicides damage the plant and some will dramatically reduce the amount of vegetation, giving an appearance of near-complete kill. However, the stems of alligatorweed break easily, especially when treated with herbicide, and this can disrupt the spread of systemic herbicides through the plant. Any damaged stem node that retains even a bit of green can regenerate roots and a new plant. Alligatorweed also grows back from its roots, which are thick, dense, and grow as deep as three feet. Finding alligatorweed can also be challenging, especially when it is small and growing among other vegetation. Several other species resemble it. Presently, the Los Angeles infestation is contained but threatens to escape. Meeting the threat requires persistent focused effort.

Project Area

The project area in Los Angeles includes: (a) Puddingstone Reservoir and Walnut Creek to the Whittier Narrows Dam; (b) the Whittier Narrows Dam and the Rio Hondo and San Gabriel Rivers downstream until they meet the ocean; (c) La Mirada Creek and adjacent areas from its headwaters to where it joins the San Gabriel River; (d) San Jose Creek from the junctions of Hacienda Creek to the junction of the San Gabriel River.

Project Activities

Project activities include: 1) surveys to delimit the infestation and detect new infestations before they become unmanageable and spread to noninfested area, 2) treatments utilizing integrated pest eradication methods to control, contain and eventually eradicate alligatorweed, 3) monitoring to assure project effectiveness and prevent or minimize impact to non-target plants and animals, and 4) public awareness to inform interested parties, stakeholders and cooperators about project activities and the potential impact of alligatorweed to the natural and agricultural resources in Southern California.

Cooperating Agencies

Cooperating agencies on the Los Angeles Alligatorweed Project include the California Department of Food and Agriculture (CDFA), Los Angeles County Agricultural Commissioner's Office, Los Angeles Flood Control District, and Los Angeles County Department of Parks and Recreation.

The CDFA's contribution to the project will be the equivalent of two seasonal employees in the Agricultural Technician range, with support for their supplies, minor equipment, and vehicle fuel and maintenance. The Los Angeles County Agricultural Commissioner's Office will have overall responsibility for the project, in consultation with CDFA, and direct supervision of field activities, including all seasonal.
